AuSable Trout Rules Fuel More Discussion

The debate over fishing regulations for the "Holy Water" on the mainstream AuSable continued at three meetings in the last two weeks, and it is expected to surface again at the DNR Commission meeting Thursday, July 11, and Friday, July 12, in Gaylord.

Mike Wieland, Vice-President of the AuSable River System Property Owners Association, and Rusty Gates, of Gates Lodge on the mainstream, are scheduled to appear before the Commission during the open public session beginning at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Anyone may show up at the meeting to talk before the Commission during the open public portions of the agenda Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. The Commission requests anyone wishing to speak to have 15 copies of their presentation.

The subject of regulations on the AuSable was part of a three-point proposal presented to the state council of Trout Unlimited by the local George Mason chapter.

The following three-point proposal was put together at a special meeting of the local chapter June 26:

1) The local chapter proposed nothing be done with no-kill regulations on any stream in Michigan until all the data had been compiled from the five-year study on the South Branch.

2) The chapter recommended the DNR identify all trout streams county by county and classify them by priority to establish a blue-ribbon approach to management.

3) The chapter recommended regulations on the AuSable "Holy Water" go back to a previous rule of 10-inch size limits for browns and rainbows and 8-inch size for brooks with a limit of five a day.

The state council at their meeting in the McMullin Center in Higgins Lake June 29 didn't have time to act on the local chapter's proposal, but in other action did deal with many of the same issues. The state TU council sent the issue of regulations on the AuSable to the fisheries committee, which will have at least two representatives from the George Mason Chapter.

The state chapter also asked the fisheries committee to develop a comprehensive plan for blue-ribbon fisheries in the state to improve fishing, promote stream restoration, and protect them from lake fish runs.

The no-kill issue also came up at the annual meeting of the AuSable River System Property Owners Association last Saturday, July 6. The guest speaker was Gaylord Alexander, a top research fish biologist working for the DNR at Hunt Creek Fisheries Research Station near Lewiston. Prior to Alexander's presentation, the property owners voted 53-14 in a mail tally opposing any proposed no-kill regulations for the river. The ballot was mailed to property owners in June and the tally was announced at the meeting.

No-kill was also expected to be the main topic at a meeting of local river guides Tuesday night at the Legion.

For additional views on no-kill see Mike Delp's "UpNorth" column and a letter to the editor by Detroit Free Press outdoor writer Tom Opre both on page 13. An advertisement concerning no-kill regulation appears on page 11.

Local Weaver Turns 86, Continues Her Craft

By Jon Thompson

Iola Broadbent celebrated her 86th birthday last Saturday, July 6th, doing something she has enjoyed for the last 35 years — weaving rugs on her own loom.

"I became fascinated with looms when I was a little kid and I used to watch a Swedish neighbor weave," Broadbent said.

Although she has always been skillful with her hands — at age five she began sewing her own doll clothes and by age seven she learned to knit — Broadbent started weaving later in life at 51 when her children were grown.

"Earl (her husband) wanted a canoe so I told him it was all right to get one if I could get a loom," she said.

She ordered a large loom from Massachusetts and taught herself how to weave old-fashioned rag rugs.

"The book that came with the loom had a little bit of information in it, but most of the problems I figured out myself," she said as she demonstrated her own method of putting a nice edge on a rug.

Broadbent soon started weaving rugs to sell and for a while was making as many as four in one day. She still sells rugs and always tries to have extras on hand because demand for her rugs keeps growing. She said the materials for the colorful rugs cost about $3 and she sells them for $7.50.

"I still like doing it. It's getting so my strength doesn't let me do as much, but so what. I pace myself, work for a while and then go rest. It's good therapy. Each rug takes at least 100 good pulls (drawing the threads tight on the loom). I can't sit all day, I'd go crazy. I have to be busy all the time."

Iola still weaves year-round on her loom, which she moved recently to the garage. One of the toughest tasks in her weaving is placing new rolls of 350 threads on the loom.

"That takes two days and if you forget one thread, it's impossible to correct."

Broadbent said she has only taught two women the craft in 35 years.

"A lot of people say they're interested and then they come to watch and say no thanks."

Broadbent, a native of Paw Paw, moved to Gaylord when she was young and came to Grayling in 1931. Her husband, Earl Broadbent, passed away in 1978, and their oldest daughter, Margery Widrig, recently died at age 82. Their daughter Elaine Bobenmoyer is a Grayling resident and their other daughter Dora Lou Southern lives in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Armed Robber Hits Mini-Mall Branch

A man pointing a single barrel sawed-off shotgun robbed the Grayling State Bank mini-mall branch Monday about 2:28 p.m.

Grayling City Police said a white male walked in the front door of the mini-mall bank, announced it was a robbery, and demanded money.

There were four employees in the bank at the time and no customers. City Police said the man took an undetermined amount of money.

The armed robber was described as 5'6" to 5'8" weighing 170 to 175 pounds with medium to heavy build. He was wearing a gray ski mask with black stripes during the robbery with a dark jacket and blue jeans.

He spoke with a southern accent and witnesses guessed his age to be 30's to early 50's.

The direction the man fled and his method of travel is uncertain City Police said Tuesday. They are investigating less than a dozen possible suspects seen leaving the area around that time.

If anyone was near the mini-mall area at the time Monday and saw something, please call the Grayling City Police at 348-4621.

High Winds Hurry Fireworks Display

By Jon Thompson

A storm with 80 mile per hour winds hurried the annual Grayling Fourth of July fireworks show last Thursday night at Camp Grayling along Lake Margrethe.

Although the storm did not hit the Grayling area during the fireworks display, professional pyro-technicians shot all the fireworks off in less than 20 minutes.

Howard Taylor, Crawford County Civil Defense director, was notified by the Crawford County Sheriff Department Thursday evening that a big storm was on the way.

Taylor said he immediately contacted the national weather service in Houghton Lake and began monitoring the storm through them while the storm was still out on the lake.

"They could tell then there were 80 miles an hour gusts in the storm, but you never know what the storm will do when it hits land," Taylor said. "The storms usually die out, but this one didn't. There were three confirmed sightings of tornadoes in Leelanau, Benzie County, and near Traverse City."

Taylor told Gerry St. Germain, president of the Grayling Booster Club, about the storm and St. Germain asked the professionals shooting the fireworks to go fast. The professionals had earlier asked St. Germain how long of a show the Booster Club wanted — indicating with the amount of fireworks on hand they could put on a show lasting anywhere from 15 minutes to one hour.

Although the Grayling Booster Club brought more fireworks this year than in previous years, it was a shorter show because the storm hurried the show.

Taylor said his prime concern was for more than 200 boats out on Lake Margrethe. He had sheriff marine deputies tell as many boaters as possible about the storm and warn them to get off the lake right after the fireworks show.

The fireworks were started at 10 p.m. and lasted about 18 minutes. High winds did briefly hit the lake near 11 p.m. but most of the boats were off the lake by then.

The storm passed quickly over the lake between 11 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. and Taylor said another storm moved into Grayling a few hours later.

The Grayling Booster Club had queries from boaters following the show concerning donations. Vehicles driving through Camp Grayling to watch the show were asked for donations, but boaters didn't have a chance to contribute. Anyone who wishes to donate toward the $5,000 fireworks show can send contributions to the Grayling Booster Club at P.O. Box 279 Grayling, 49738, or give them to Gerry St. Germain.

Outboard Motor Ban Nears Final Step for K.P. Lake

A regulation to ban outboard motors on K.P. Lake has reached the final stages and is likely to be in effect by this fall.

The regulation will ban all motors except electric ones on boats used on the 98-acre lake in Lovells Township.

Eric Olsen, of the DNR Law Enforcement Division, said the DNR Commission has approved the regulation for K.P. Lake. The regulation now goes to the Governor for approval and then to the Lovells Township Board. The Lovells board will need to approve an identical ordinance, Olsen said.

He said the new regulation should take effect by late summer or fall.

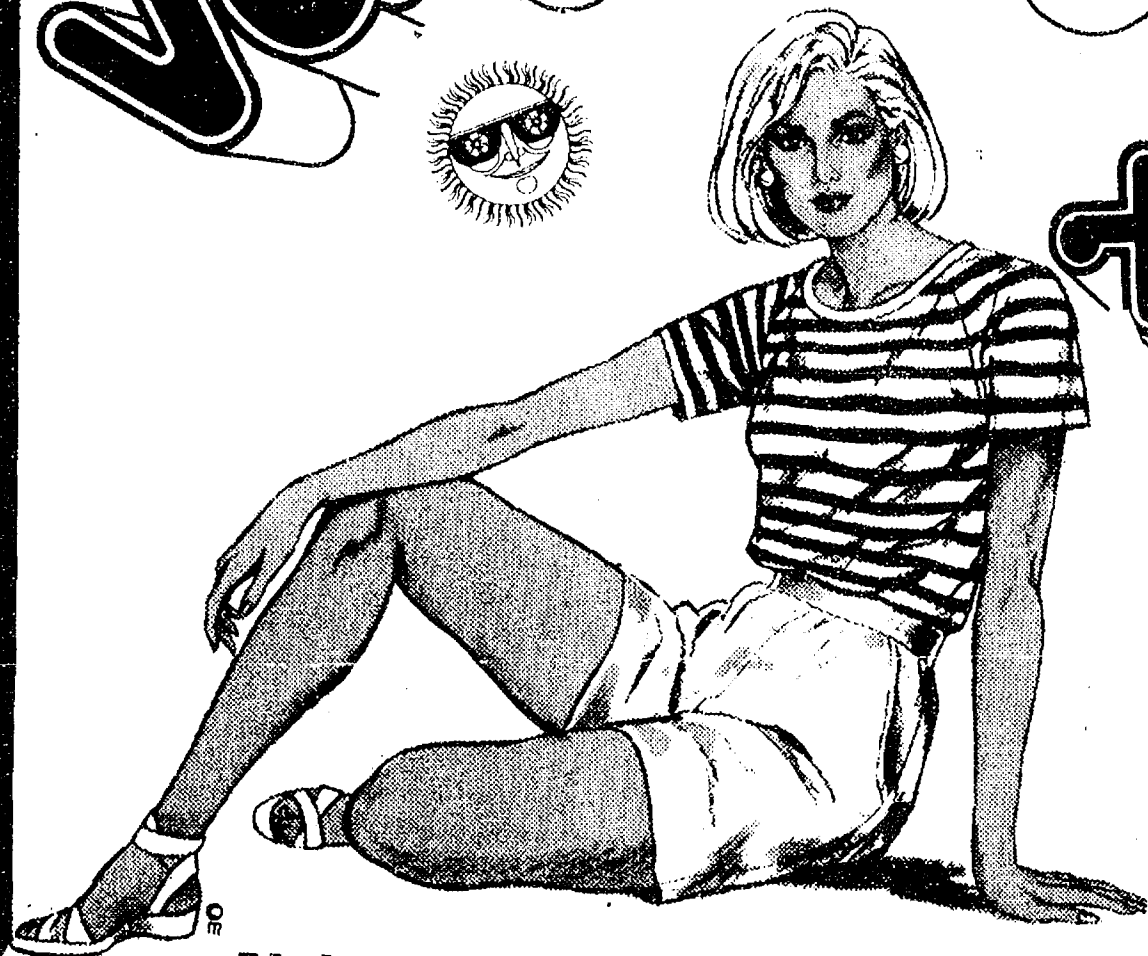

The regulation was prompted by action from the K.P. Lake Association. Bob Hartwig, president of the association, said most K.P. Lake residents enjoy the quiet area, and although there are no problems right now, they were afraid of trouble in the future. Hartwig credited Rama and Phyl Stimpson, of K.P. Lake, for performing most of the footwork connected with the regulation.

Olsen said there are 100 or so lakes in Michigan with no motor regulations (electric motors are allowed). Most of the lakes are less than 70 acres and local people wanted the controls, he said. Olsen stressed the decision for no motors is made locally.

From Our Corner...

With the controversy involving the Kill and No-Kill on trout fishing on the AuSable that has filled many columns in papers throughout Michigan lately, we thought this would be a good time to relate a fish story of the one that got away...

We received a phone call from Honest Butch Brown of Grayling one day last week, and after telling me I should know that he was honest on any stories he had told me before that I should believe him this time...

So here goes his story...seems as Randy Stampfly, also of Grayling was fishing in the stumps of the back waters of the AuSable in May and hooked onto a biggy, only to have it break the line and take off... the story goes that Jeff Birtcher, part owner of A.J.D. Forest Products of Grayling, was looking out his front window on the AuSable at the bridge on M-72 West in June when he noticed a limb on one of his trees kept bobbing up and down...there was no wind, so Jeff went to investigate...he found a line hooked to the tree limb and when he pulled it in there was a 26", 6 pound brown trout on the other end...

Jeff unhooked the fish and let it go...the moral of it all, is that there are a few true stories that the big fish got away...which I'm sure doesn't make Randy feel very good...if you don't believe this fish story, give Honest Butch a call, he's in the phone directory...

We have wondered lately if there are some of the fishermen who have thought why we have not gotten involved in the controversy over the fishing on the AuSable...the answer is simple, we have never fished in our lives, and know nothing about what the big argument is all about...we have though, given ink to the letters to the editor from both sides, which we feel is only fair...

I should note though...I did fish once in my life...that was when I was about 10 or 11, we were taken fishing by a neighbor friend, Billy Milbocker and his dad...I think I caught a blue gill or a sun fish from a boat on Otsego Lake...that is what a skillful fisherman I am...besides we never acquired the knack of eating around fish bones...

The infrequent column, UpNorth by Michael Delp appears once again in the Avalanche on page 13...Mike had written his column while he was a teacher here at Grayling High School, and now teaches at Interlochen during the school year...this summer he is living on the North Branch and doing what he loves to do...fish...his column gives a little humor to the fishing controversy...Mike worked for the Avalanche a number of summers while a teacher here...

Mother nature cooperated this year for Grayling's annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Booster Club...although the sky was a bit cloudy, the temperature was ideal, and the rains held off until the fireworks at the lake...insurance problems forced the club to move from downtown out to the lake...the parade was nice, and Grayling's new queen, Kris Laudenslager was at the head of the parade right behind the colors, that is where the beauty should be...

We got a bit mouthy in last week's turkey and had to clip a portion of it to fit in our allotted space...we mentioned about a couple more Tiger games on the LeCoache tour bus but, also had to delete the portion that the bus goes to other activities which I believe would encounter most of our citizens...check the schedule, there are many things to do...we believe this adds to many functions that as an individual you would not take part in...

The space ran out...so to our granddaughters, T.J., Stefany and Amber, goodnight...and to our readers, have a nice weekend, enjoy summer, it doesn't last long enough...

Help your kids to just say no.

THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The NEA is probably the greatest internal threat to the future security of our nation. Samuel L. Blumenfeld did the first full-length expose' of the NEA in his book entitled "N.E.A. Trojan Horse In American Education." The following paragraph from page 199 of Blumenfeld's book gives us the kinds of thinking and activity Blumenfeld has documented and exposed in detail. "All in all, the NEA is everything the communists believe a labor union in America should be: it is creating working-class consciousness among its members; it is forming coalitions with other unions to exert maximum pressure on candidates and legislators; it backs Marxist revolution in Central America; it never criticizes the Soviet Union; no form of anticommunism can be found in its publications; it wages incessant warfare against conservatives, fundamentalist Christians and organizations of the New Right; it is working to bring all teachers and all private schools under government control through certification and accreditation laws; it hates capitalism and loves socialism; it is uncompromisingly atheistic in its adherence to evolution, behavioral psychology, and humanist moral values; it advocates sex education for children, abortion on demand, and passage of the Equal Rights Amendment; it advocates gun control in violation of the Second Amendment; it wants a nuclear freeze and disarmament. In short, for all practical purposes, the NEA might as well be the socialist party of America."

Sally D. Reed, gives basically the same overview of the NEA in her new book, "NEA: Propaganda Front of the Radical Left." She quotes Economist Milton Friedman who calls education "the only bastion of socialism in a sea of free enterprise in America." Jean Francois-Revel once wrote, "They judge socialism by its promise, but fascism by its record." Unlike fascism, socialism does not submit itself to refutation by empirical data. No matter that socialism has utterly ruined many countries, no matter that its influences have corroded education in America, socialists continue to work for their goals with undiminished enthusiasm. They regard all failures of socialism as "deviations" from true socialism. This makes them very dangerous, because there is no stopping the evils they would inflict upon us en route to the elusive, never-witnessed true socialism."

The NEA goes to great lengths to defend the rights of the radical left, but they are just as bitterly opposed to the beliefs and rights of the New Right. In the NEA Review, Edward Morgan is quoted approvingly saying, "It isn't that the New Right should be crushed, its sober voice silenced. This is a free country, still, and they have a right to express their beliefs. They do not have the right, however, in an open society, to believe as they believe, to do as they do, to behave as they behave." The NEA says Christians have a right to say anything they please, but they don't have the right to believe and practice what they say. The NEA not only wants the Bible and prayer out of the public schools, they want it out of the belief and conduct of our nation.

Politics going all the time

by Richard Millman

MICHIGAN IS supposed to have an election every two years, with the intervening year a so-called "off year."

Presidential elections are each four years; the last one was in 1984, the next one will be 1988. Governors are elected in the two interim years; the last one was 1982, the next one will be 1986.

With those figures in mind, 1985 is supposed to be a politically quiet year.

But that's not the way it's worked out. It seems that there's an election of some sort going on every week or so, and the control of the legislature — or at least the state Senate — hangs on the balance in each of these frequent elections.

Illogical as it may sound, and opposed to the overall plan as it may be, that's exactly what's been happening.

PART OF THE PROBLEM is Michigan's election laws. Maybe someone should take a look at them.

The Grand Rapids area provides one example of the problem.

In the 1984 election, State Sen. Paul Henry was a candidate for Congress. He won. Therefore, he had to resign from the state Senate. That meant a special election.

So both parties nominated candidates. An open district, with no incumbent, provides an unusual opportunity for someone who is politically ambitious to be elected; that sort of chance doesn't come along every day, so interest was keen in the senatorial primary.

Two of the candidates were members of the state House of Representatives. Generally speaking, most House members would rather be in the Senate. The pay is the same, and the hours are similar; but the prestige is a bit higher in the Senate, and you only have to run for re-election every four years instead of every two years. So with an opening in the state Senate, natural candidates are House members.

STATE REP. Vernon Ehlers won the Republican primary, and eventually won the election, and is now Sen. Ehlers. Control of the state Senate is Republican by a single vote; that means Ehlers had to win to keep the GOP in charge. The race was strongly contested, but the Republicans prevailed, and kept the Senate.

However, Ehlers had to resign his House seat to move across the Capitol rotunda to the Senate. Result: another special election, with special primaries, and lots of candidates who wanted to get started in state politics.

A local attorney named Richard Bandstra finally won that race. It's fortunate for the voters that he was not in local office, or else yet another special election may have been necessary. Had Bandstra been a county commissioner, for example, he would resign that job, calling for a special election. The election ripples could go on and on and on — and unfortunately in some cases they do.

Anyway, Grand Rapids voters have been trooping to the polls every few weeks for almost a year now. That's not the way it was supposed to work.

A SIMILAR SITUATION almost developed in the Kalamazoo area where State Sen. Bob Welborn recently died. That means a special election is necessary to fill the vacancy and a special primary to pick the candidates for the special election. Again, control of the Senate is at stake.

One of the leading potential candidates was State Rep. Bob Bender of Ionia, who finally decided against running. But if Bender had run, and had won the election, another special primary and special election would have been necessary in the Ionia-Barry area to pick his successor. Fortunately for the vote-weary electorate, none of the four candidates to fill the Welborn vacancy presently holds elective office, but the potential for the election ripple effect was highly possible.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS are not only confusing and diverting, they're expensive too. Ask the local clerks who have to handle, and pay for, the special election.

One solution would be appointments to fill state Senate or state House, or county commissioner vacancies.

Another possibility — and one which bears close study — would be to prohibit anyone elected to office from resigning to take another elected job during the term for which the officer is first elected.

That's only keeping faith with the people who did the electing in the first place.

And it might help straighten out the problem of compounded special elections.

Roscommon Art Festival Saturday, July 13th

The Roscommon Arts Council and the Roscommon Business Assoc. are presenting their 5th annual Roscommon Art Festival on Saturday, July 13 from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. in Wallace Park and on Lake Street (M-18) in the business district of Roscommon. Each summer, talented Michigan, local, and national artists and craftspeople gather in Roscommon to display their works and compete for prizes. The great variety of works entered in the juried show include: painting, photography, graphics, stained or blown glass, pottery, jewelry, basketry, glass, fiber, wood, sculpture, drawing and print. Participating in the non-juried show will be woodworkers, dollmakers, china painters, painters, folk artisans, and many other skilled individuals.

This year the Business Association is donating up to $500 in purchase awards with which to buy works from the winning artists. The Arts Council will contribute up to $150. The judging committee will select 4 or 5 of the 28 artists who are entered in the juried show as prize winners. The committee will then select one piece of work for purchase from each winning artist. The exception to the new purchase award policy is that the Barbara Kieler Award for "Best Local Artist" will still be awarded in cash. The judging will occur at 12 noon.

Sibs for Kids

Giving your time to a young person who needs it is much more meaningful than gifts or money. Being a Big Brother or Sister, through the Crawford County Sibs for Kids Program, need not require a large financial commitment.

The most important thing is to commit yourself: Be a friend, build a positive relationship. A Big Brother/Sister is available to talk and listen to a young friend and serve as a responsible model.

The Sibs for Kids Program's main priority is to match lonely young people, from one-parent homes, with a compatible Big Brother or Sister.

If you are interested in becoming a part of our special program or a youngster who could benefit from this, call us at 348-2841, ext. 262 or stop by our office on M-72 West.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Rate Hike Rejected

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Dir., MPA

A Michigan Consolidated Gas company request for a 15 percent rate increase was unanimously rejected by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It was the first time since 1977 that the body has totally denied a utility's rate hike request.

The commission said the extra $62.3 million in rates were not needed in light of the company's earnings level over the past 12 months.

The company has been earning 17-18 percent in that time, PSC spokesman Robert Nelson said, compared to an authorized rate of return of 14.82 percent, with stockholders benefiting from the extra earnings.

The denial order also imposed a $958,950 penalty for improper charges to ratepayers during the utility's successful campaign against a 1982 ballot issue to revise rate setting procedures.

Michigan Consolidated is the first of the three major utilities to be hit with penalties, which were set in an April commission order.

PSC Chairman Eric Schneidewin said, "Mich Con's earnings are satisfactory and do not need to be improved. The cost of gas from suppliers is leveling off, the inflation rate is lower and we have authorized techniques to prevent Mich Con from losing customers."

Those techniques include authorization earlier this year for the utility to negotiate a price with three steel companies considering switching to another fuel, and the new order permits, the negotiated prices to apply to other companies as well.

The prices have to cover the cost of gas, but permits the company to take a lower profit margin.

Michigan Consolidated's Chairman Alfred R. Glancy III said the denial "attempts to set future rates based on the company's very recent past performance rather than on future business conditions. This order places great reliance on the company's ability to make sales in the industrial market in order to maintain adequate earnings."

Attorney General Frank Kelley called the order "a clear victory for the consumers of Michigan. It was a courageous decision by the PSC."

WELFARE PROJECT IDENTIFIES $16 MILLION IN SUSPECTED FRAUD

A state general assistance program matching welfare clients with federal social security wage reports has identified $16.7 million in possible fraud, the Department of Social Services has reported.

The department, in its second quarterly report on steps taken to reduce error and fraud, also reported an intensive review of all 141,331 GA cases has resulted in savings of $1.3 million per month.

The department, which said the wage match project is the most cost effective fraud reduction effort conducted to date, said 77 percent of the cases with apparent unreported income were referred from prosecution because of the likelihood of fraud.

Of 1,547 cases suspected of fraud, the office of inspector general has authorized fraud warrants against 592 recipients, with reviews continuing on the remaining cases. The average alleged fraud per case exceeds $10,000 the department said.

Convictions have been obtained in 26 instances, with no case yet dismissed.

The wage match project has completed investigation of 2,003 of the 6,019 cases where computer tapes identified apparent unreported income.

Weyerhaeuser Foundation Helps 4-H

WEYERHAEUSER DONATES — Bill Boehner, from the Weyerhaeuser Grayling Structurwood plant gives Michael Tate, assistant director of the MSU Cooperative Extension Service 4-H youth programs, a check for $1,000 from the Weyerhaeuser Foundation.

The Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation has given a grant of $1,000 to the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service based in Atlanta, Michigan. The funds will be used to help support the "Expanding Teen Horizons in Leadership" program which is an in-depth look at leadership skills for teens throughout northern lower Michigan.

This program is endorsed by 4-H staff in the north region of Michigan and is supported by Michael Tate, Assistant Director of Extension for 4-H Youth Programs, Dr. Adger Carroll, Assistant Director of Extension in Natural Resources/Public Policy, and Dr. Frank Brewer, Assistant Director of Extension in Agriculture and Marketing. Teens in the 21 counties of northern lower Michigan will increase their knowledge in understanding leadership and styles that work best, potential leadership skills, making yourself heard and understood, goal setting and priorities, conducting effective meetings, increasing communication skills, understanding group dynamics, dealing with time management, furthering self-esteem, and understanding future issues confronting this age group.

Fifty teens and several support staff members will spend 30 hours training over a four month period. The training sessions will be on Saturday and Sunday one weekend per month. During the following year an evaluation will be conducted with participants to see if they have effectively used or further developed their skills.

This is the first grant of 1985 to be given by the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation in the Grayling area. Grants for this area will be given during the remainder of 1985 and will total between $30,000 - $35,000. The 1985 budget for the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation has been approved and is $3.7 million, an increase over 1984.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover, Park Interpreter

Many people visit the park to see the Tall Timber, in fact, in the course of a year, a quarter of a million visitors come from all over the world. On guided hikes I've waited for interpreters to tell foreign visitors what had been said. Some people come to look for birds in general and a few for only one special bird. I've directed and guided taxonomists into areas within the park where we have some rare flowers. Again they were interested in only one flower which could be found in only one type of habitat at one definite time of the year.

Recently we had a camper who was looking for one species of moth. This type of moth feeds exclusively on pine and according to his information should be found in late June and early July. The moth he described is large, being three to four inches across. It is nearly a bright yellow with pink on purple spots. It seems that there are only seventy subspecies around the United States, and he and his wife are writing a book and photographing the life cycle of these particular moths. If by chance you see a large Basilonia Imperialis, let me know, as I'm sure he would be most interested.

Completes Army Course

Pvt. 1st Class Ronald Baker, son of Wanita L. Baker of Gaylord, and Ronald Baker of Grayling, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. Baker is scheduled to serve with the 7th Division at Fort Ord, Calif.

He is a 1980 graduate of Gaylord High School.

Dick and Ann DuBois spent one week in Lakewood, Colorado, visiting his sister and husband, Edward and Dorothy Stone.

Karen and Ted Carlson and two children of Canton, Ohio, spent the holiday weekend with her mother, Mrs. Jean Gothro, and then continued on their vacation.

Mrs. Virginia Martin of Lansing is spending some time at her cottage at Lake Margrethe.

Grace Andrews of Grand Haven is spending two months in Grayling. Her son, Dr. Hans Andrews of Illinois, brought her up and she is visiting former friends.

Visiting for three days at the Jerry Hayes' home was her father, Kermit Smith from Phoenix, Arizona. Recently the Hayes' attended the ventriloquist convention in Kentucky and also took their daughter, Jeanne, down to meet her uncle and grandmother in Tennessee. She is spending part of the summer in North Carolina with them.

Carl and Rose Hatfield spent a week's vacation antiquing in Kentucky and West Virginia. They also looked up the McCoy monument donated by the Hatfield family in memory of the famous feud.

Herbal Corner

Recently I learned that there are quite a few of you who cut out my articles to save or send to others. I am truly flattered; and I thank you kindly. I will, heretofore, do my best to write articles worth clipping.

People ask me what to do for rabbits in their gardens. Weeelll — you have eight inch fences. But what might be more effective is to cut an old hose into two or three foot lengths and lay them about in your garden.

This trick is not too bad for homosapiens, either. We have a black hose with a yellow stripe on either side, and you guessed it. My heart palpitates every time I go near the thing. Any self-respecting snake who is not desirous of being tromped on by uncontrolled patters of large feet does not stay long in our yard. So much for pioneer blood. Let us go on.

When next you fix your mint tea, double the strength of your tea. Refrigerate overnight or use the following with ice cubes. Add one fourth cup tea to one fourth cup of ginger ale and one half cup 7-Up. It tastes better when the tea is cold. The recipe comes out 1 part tea, 1 part ginger ale, and 2 parts 7-Up. It tastes like sparkling mint. I used a similar recipe at my VIP Grand Opening, and the punch went over better than my Rose Cake.

If you have any questions, please call 517/348-8727 or contact me at the Cerelli's Herb Farm one mile north of Frederic on Old 27.

Herbally yours,

Summer Dance Program

PERFORM AT AUSAGRA ACRES — Students from the CCAC dance program perform for AuSagra Acres residents and guests at the Mother's Day banquet.

Dance students still have time to enroll in the Crawford County Arts Council's summer dance program, which began Monday, July 8. Cost for the program is $24 ($30 for pointe students), and students who miss the first week can attend a make-up class to be offered at the end of the six-week session. Most classes will be offered at the Crawford County Arts Center in the Grayling Mini Mall.

At least four courses will be offered: Tiny Tumblers and Creative Movement (ages 3-5), Monday, 10:00-10:45 (Day Care Center) and 11:15-12:00; Beginning Ballet (ages 6-12), Tuesday, 10:45-11:45; Intermediate Ballet and Pointe, Tuesday, 9:00-10:30; and Advanced Ballet and Pointe, Monday, 7:00-8:30 p.m. Beginning Jazz will also be offered on Tuesday from 7:35-8:35 p.m.

The Arts Council is pleased to announce that Phyllis Walsh has agreed to teach the majority of the summer courses. Walsh is a 1982 Grayling High School graduate and a senior dance minor at Hope College. She began studying with local instructor Louise Hayes in 7th grade, and also studied with Elisa Brabenec at the Traverse City Dance Arts Academy.

Walsh is presently studying and performing with Hope College's dance program, which she describes as "very professional, difficult and demanding." In addition to classes in ballet, improvisation, jazz, modern, tap, Afro-Caribbean, folk and square, and creative movement, she has taken technique and dance theory coursework, and will earn her K-12 teaching certificate upon graduation.

For two years Walsh has been teaching at the Sailorettes Dance and Baton Studio in pre-ballet, ballet, tap, and jazz (children age 3-13). "I'm really excited to teach for the Arts Council this summer. I've had many dance experiences and I feel I have something to offer."

By her own words, Walsh "loves to teach." And she also loves to dance. "Dancing gives back to me everything I put into it."

Beginning Jazz will be taught by another young local woman, Stephanie Hindmarsh. Like Walsh, she has studied since childhood with Louise Hayes, and since high school, with jazz instructor Toni Wejrowski in Mt. Pleasant.

Very serious about her study of jazz, Hindmarsh makes a point of attending dance workshops by the recognized masters, including Gus Giordano, to whose Illinois program she returns in August.

Hindmarsh will begin her senior year at GHS in the fall, and upon graduation plans to pursue her study of dance at the university level.

Call immediately (348-7037) to sign up for any of these exciting classes from the CCAC's two talented instructors. As Walsh states, "We learn in different ways from different people." This summer's dance program with two different teachers is an opportunity which dedicated dance students should not pass up.

Nunn - Barrick Exchange Vows

Penny L. Nunn and Dean H. Barrick were joined together in holy matrimony on Saturday, May 4, 1985. Rev. Jeffery Rogan and Rev. Kenneth Christler performed the double ring ceremony at Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church. Janet Dice, accompanist, provided the traditional processional and recessional music, along with solos "The Wedding Song" and "What A Difference You've Made In My Life", sung by Bonnie Christler. A poem, written for the couple by Penny's grandmother Florence Nunn, was also a part of the ceremony.

Penny, daughter of Pat and Nancy Nunn of Grayling, was given in marriage by her parents. She was a 1978 graduate of Grayling High School and a Ferris State College graduate. She is currently employed by Wyandotte General Hospital in Wyandotte, Michigan.

Dean is the son of George and Deana Barrick of Oxford, Michigan. He was a 1978 graduate of Brandon High School and a Ferris State College graduate. He is currently employed by Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center in Clarkston, Michigan.

The bride wore a gown made of romantic dacron organza with a scoop neckline and full puffed sleeves. The bodice, skirt and sleeves were in silk lace. The skirt flowed into a semi-cathedral train edged with crystal pleating. She wore a narrow-brimmed hat with a veil. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow and peach roses mixed with spider mums.

Julie MacGregor, friend of the couple, served as Maid of Honor. The bridesmaids were Ann Nowak, friend of the bride, and Holly and Paula Nunn, sisters of the bride. The brides' attendants wore floor length gowns of peach dotted swiss, with a wreath of silk flowers as head pieces. They carried fans adorned with a bouquet of peach and yellow flowers.

James Smith, friend of the groom, served as best man. Gregg and Kirk Barrick, brothers of the groom served as ushers/attendants with Patrick Nunn, brother of the bride. While the groom wore a white tuxedo, the grooms-men wore matching tan tuxedos.

The reception was held at the Officers Club, Camp Grayling. Here guests from Michigan, New Jersey, Delaware, Florida and North Carolina enjoyed food and dancing. The couple honeymooned in Gatlinburg, Tennessee and have made their home in Madison Heights, Michigan.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

In response to serious degradation of water quality and riparian rights, the state legislature passed the Inland Lakes and Streams Act (Act 346) in 1972.

Many waterways in the state were being dredged, filled, channelized and otherwise manipulated in a helter skelter, unregulated manner. This resulted in an amalgam of breakwalls, bulkheads, seawalls, ditches, docks, etc., which threatened property values, aesthetic values and the quality of the resource.

In an effort to regulate this problem, the Inland Lakes and Streams Act sets standards and procedures for undertaking such projects. Section 3 (MCLA 281.953) is the heart of the Act in this regard. This section requires a permit whenever anyone wishes to do the following below the ordinary high water mark: dredge; fill; construct; enlarge, remove or place a structure; erect, maintain or operate a marina; create, enlarge or diminish an inland lake or stream; structurally interfere with natural water flow; or any work on an artificial canal, ditch, pond, etc. to connect with existing lake or stream, or within 500 feet of an existing lake or stream.

Some projects are specifically exempted, such as: non-commercial seasonal structures which do not unreasonably interfere with use of the water; reasonable sanding of beaches; agricultural and county drains and other projects.

Permit applications are available at DNR offices or local Conservation Officers. If you are contemplating a project in or near the water and have a question as to whether a permit is required, please call to be sure.

Blood Sugar Screening

Blood Sugar Screening will be done at the Health Department, Courthouse, Grayling on Wednesday, July 17, 1985 between 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. No food from midnight on or test can be done 2 hours after eating. Donation $1.00.

GPA DONATES — Marty VanDeVen, president of the Grayling Recreation Authority receives a $250 check from Betty Bennett, president of the Grayling Promotional Association, and Mo McNamara, treasurer of the Grayling Promotional Association.

GPA Donates to Help Park

The Grayling Recreation Authority recently received the balance of a $500 pledge from the Grayling Promotional Association. Betty Bennett, president of the Grayling Promotional Association, and Mo McNamara, treasurer, met with Marty VanDeVen, president of the Rec. Authority who accepted the check for $250.

Last September the promotional association pledged $500 to help Hanson Hills continue operations. The first payment of $250 was given in April. Through various fund raising events the balance was earned and today the pledge was completed.

On June 20, the GPA was host for the annual luncheon for the wives of the officers of the Michigan National Guard. This luncheon was held at the Grayling Knights of Columbus Hall and over 150 ladies were in attendance. This included officers wives and over 75 local women who are actively involved in the community. At that luncheon Mrs. Grace Andrews, wife of the adjutant general of Michigan, was presented with a pen and ink sketch of the officers club at Camp Grayling done by local artist Terry Dickinson and used by the GPA on the note paper they are selling as a fund raising project.

Broadway Revue Returns to Grayling July 20th

The Broadway Revue returns to Grayling! On Saturday, July 20, the Crawford County Arts Council welcomes "If Only They Would Let Us," to Grayling High School's Joseph Stripe Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

The Revue features the same talented performers as last fall's: Jean Reed Bahle, Kirk Swenk, Mary Gamble Hyatt, and pianist Stephanie LeTourneau. This year's includes Kim McLeod, an actor described as "a man with a big voice and lots of experience on the stage in opera and musicals."

"If Only They Would Let Us" explores everybody's secret dream to be someone completely different. It's a "Walter Mitty" type of theme about what fun it would be to go break with the mundane and go for the gusto!

All of the performers are professional actors from the Grand Rapids and Lansing stage, and each one has established a reputation for excellence and versatility in comedic and dramatic roles.

Tickets will go on sale the week before the July 20 performance at local businesses. Advance price is $3.00. Ticket price at the door will be $4.00. Like last year, patronages will be available to individuals, businesses, and organizations ($25). For further information, call CCAC member Susan Bochner at 348-8218.

This dazzling performance is brought to Grayling by the Midwest Lyceum, a division of Windrose Travelogues, whose travelogue programs have been entertaining local audiences for years. Don't miss this one-time opportunity for exciting and fun summer entertainment!

Strolling

Around Town

In spite of the very dry weather for the past week or more, the petunias are beginning to bring color to the city streets. On Michigan Avenue, Wiebers Jewelry, Paint and Paper Palace, Flowers by Josie and the Grayling Pharmacy have various kinds of planter containers and mounds of flowers. And at the end of the street, the old depot looks better every day; it's going to be a much needed improvement for the city. It sat there for such a long time looking so forgotten.

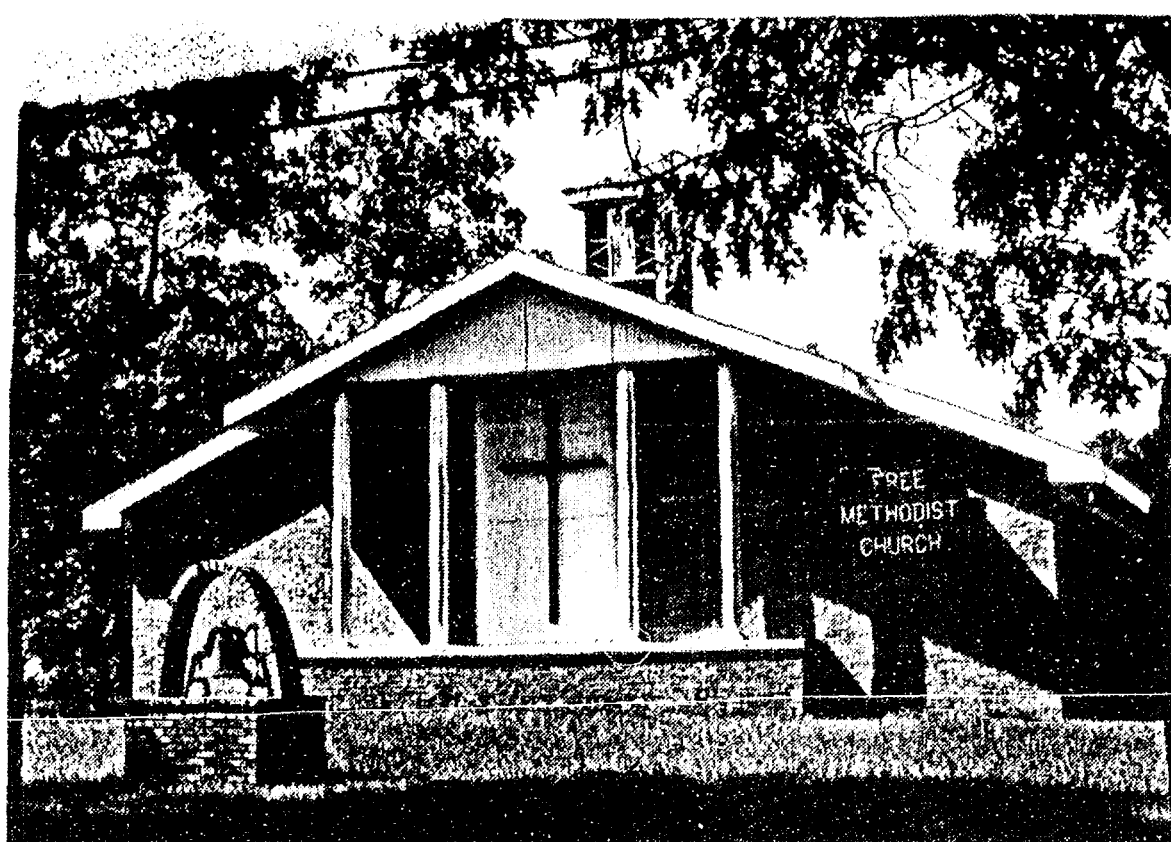

A red, white and blue triangular display of petunias is very noticeable on Dr. Hough's business lot on Michigan Avenue and on the other corner under the welcome sign is the barrel of red geraniums.

The Jack Lunds are back at the Triangle Motel and their red petunias brighten up that corner.

On Maple Street, the Charlie Gierkes have flowers that look like miniature dahlias, the Steeles have a neat yard and flowers as do Richard Moshiers. Further up Maple, the Bob Ruddys and Duane Halls have planters and flowers in nooks and crannies.

As for home improvements, the Dave Lovely's have fenced in their yard (the former Pearl Nolan home) and next door, the Barry McClanahans are really remodeling the Jenny Hoesli house.

MORTGAGE BURNING CEREMONY — The Grayling Free Methodist Church will hold a special service on July 14, 1985, at 11:00 a.m. to burn their recently paid-off mortgage. Rev. Dale Woods, superintendent of the East Michigan Conference, will be present and special music will be provided. The new church was built on M-72 West under the ministry of Rev. Otis Smith in 1972.

Former pastors and members have been invited to attend this special celebration, and people of Grayling who wish to be present are welcome. Following the service will be a pot luck and pork roast dinner.

Phyllis Diller at C.C. Playhouse July 16 thru 21

The world's leading female stand-up comic Phyllis Diller brings her zany one-woman comedy show to the Cherry County Playhouse for one week only, from July 16 through July 21.

Known for her outrageous laugh and unique approach to comedy, which she describes as "tragedy revisited", Phyllis has drawn capacity crowds to virtually every major supper club and concert hall coast to coast, from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas to the Waldorf-Astoria in Manhattan.

Phyllis writes most of her own material and edits her words so tightly that she can deliver as many as 12 punch-lines per minute. She is gifted with the ability to laugh at herself, and more importantly has the audience laughing at themselves. She has delighted people everywhere, lampooning current celebrities, high fashion, life, and her mythical husband "Fang".

In her 30-year career Phyllis has starred in three television series, countless specials, and made hundreds of guest appearances on top-rated shows. "I love TV", she says. "It's not my fault if the tubes blow out when I laugh."

Her career began with a two-week booking at San Francisco's Purple Onion, which ended 89 weeks later. She then polished her act and developed the "housewife" and "daily-life" routines that have made her the "high priestess of the ridiculous".

The multi-talented Diller has appeared in numerous films, written four best-selling books for Doubleday, recorded several comedy albums, and performed with over 100 symphony orchestras across the country as the piano virtuoso, Ilya Dillya.

Appearing with Phyllis Diller will be the very talented singer Larry Stuart. Larry tours regularly with Phyllis, and has charmed audiences across the country with his enchanting vocal style, unique showmanship, and charismatic personality.

The son of internationally known tenor, Enzo Stuarti, Larry has showcased his own brilliant baritone voice at many of America's top nightclubs such as the Copacabana in New York, the Playboy Club in New Jersey, and Dangerfield's in New York, where he performs regularly.

Larry's high energy show includes such musical favorites as the theme from the popular TV series "Love Boat", a fast paced delivery of "If My Friends Could See Me Now", many popular ballads, and a rousing rendition of "New York, New York".

Who Should Control the River?

The Michigan Council of Trout Unlimited?

Tom Opry of The Detroit Free Press?

Glen Sheppard of The North Woods Call?

The Taxpayers of Crawford County and Grayling Township?

The Michigan Council of Trout Unlimited, EXCEPT THE GEORGE MASON CHAPTER, Tom Opry and Glen Sheppard are determined to restrict the fishing, canoeing and guiding on the AuSable River.

Tom Opry, on May 10, wrote that "NO-KILL" regulations must be put in place and, during mid-May, he told a group of River Guides that if they didn't like what HE was going to do, they could go work somewhere else.

Glen Sheppard, on June 5, wrote "The few locals, who oppose no-kill should, of course, be heard. But not too seriously. They have consistently failed to support controversial proposals that would have benefitted the fishery; like sharp curbs on commercial canoeing, a halt to river front development, and removal of dams. — So, hell, if they want a few fish for breakfast let 'em fish the hundreds of miles of other streams in the area."

Since 1973, Trout Unlimited Property in Grayling Township has cost Grayling Township and Crawford County over $48,000 due to its Tax-Exempt Status. GUESS WHO HAD TO PAY THAT SHORT-FALL???

A "Petition" has been circulated by Tom Opry and signed by "Over 300 Fishermen". How many of those "Over 300 Fisherman" pay taxes in Crawford County?

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Mercy Hospital and nurses and doctors for their wonderful care during my recent stay at the hospital. To my many friends in Grayling, Fredric and Maple Forest for the many flowers, cards and visits.

Also belated thanks to my friends, neighbors and family for the lovely party given to me at the Maple Forest Town Hall on June 11th.

Words cannot express my appreciation for all the kindness shown me during the past few months.

Again thank you everyone

Silent Scream To Be Shown

Crawford County Right to Life will be showing the movie "The Silent Scream" on Tuesday, July 16. The film will be shown at the group's regular monthly meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. There is no charge for admission.

The Silent Scream is a 27 minute film showing an actual abortion with the use of an ultrasound screen. The movie is narrated by Bernard N. Nathanson, M.D., who earlier in his career ran the largest abortion clinic in the world. Through his own experiences Dr. Nathanson has since become a dedicated adversary to "abortion on demand."

Crawford County Right to Life challenges anyone and everyone who takes a pro-choice position on abortion to see "The Silent Scream." It also encourages anyone wishing to become better informed about the subject to see this "eye opening" movie.

Editor's Mailbox

To The Editor:

Twenty years in the newspaper business has hardened me to unwarranted personal attacks. You get used to people calling you a jerk just because they don't agree with your opinions. But I feel compelled to answer a few points raised in Bob Andrus' letter to the Avalanche.

Bob's opinions are rightfully his to express. He hasn't the right to misrepresent mine.

How he arrives at the belief that — because I support catch-and-release on the Mainstream — my "self-centered philosophy" is based only on my desire to get fishermen who kill fish "off his (my) river" is beyond my understanding.

The Mainstream is no more mine than anyone else's. I have said repeatedly that catch-and-release will attract more fishermen than we now have simply because fishing will be better. That has been the eventual outcome every place catch-and-release rules have been tried. Local businessmen should be pleased.

Some crowding during key hatches may prove bothersome to fishermen. How bothersome, I don't know. But those who fish catch-and-release streams in other states tell me that because fish are more abundant, less water is needed to have a satisfactory fishing experience. There's always the option of expanding catch-and-release areas to meet increasing demands, too.

Bob seems to believe anglers will desert the Mainstream because he has decided that the limited catch-and-release experiment on the South Branch has already driven fishermen away. Mysteriously, only three years into a seven-year study, he brands the South Branch study "a failure."

While I worried, back when the South Branch experiment started, that the DNR had done everything it could to predispose it to fail (by limiting it to a short upstream section instead of using the whole Mason Tract), that has not proved to be the case.

My experiences don't square with Bob's description. I've almost always run into plenty of anglers when I've visited the South Branch's experimental area this spring and early summer. Finding room to park has proved difficult once in a while.

Not only that, but the trout populations seem to be responding. Certainly brook trout are larger already. Browns should show some response soon. And my observations have been echoed by many other fishermen I've met. Ask your own friends and neighbors.

I wonder how Bob can call that a failure. But I'm not branding it a success, either. Not yet. This is the study's third summer and only the first when DNR researchers are taking statistics.

Incidentally, Bob says I used a four-point criteria established by a Dr. Robert Behnke as the basis for supporting in 1980 a no-kill experiment on the South Branch. Dr. Behnke may have great credentials, but to set the record straight, I've never heard of him.

What I did say in that column was that the South Branch, because of limited recruitment, would seem to be more suited to no-kill than the Mainstream. It was a reasonable conclusion, if not totally scientifically supportable, based on evidence available at the time.

Fisheries researchers have made great strides in the past five years, however. The wealth of data on the Mainstream since subjected to computer analysis has proven the Mainstream unquestionably worthy of catch-and-release rules. The South Branch study may prove them beneficial there, also.

Each different system of regulations tried on the Mainstream has produced exactly the results in the trout biomass that the computer predicted. Now it says that catch-and-release will create the largest number of large trout to fish over. Any reasonable set of rules that allow trout to be killed will make the fishery something less — not ruined, mind you, just something less.

On the Mainstream, the computer predicts a 47 percent increase per river mile in trout 12 to 16 inches long after only three years. Trout above 16 inches will increase 147 percent. How can Bob say, then, that "it is unlikely that the fishermen's catch rate will improve much"? Another mysterious deduction.

Bob (and others who agree with him) ought to be honest about their motivation. Having the best fishery possible isn't as important to them as being able to kill a trout now and then — or every time they go out to fish.

Nothing is wrong with that. I don't find a desire to kill a trout "repugnant," as Bob labels my viewpoints. I believe there's room for all valid management philosophies in Michigan's wide-spread trout resource, a place to meet the needs and desires of all fly fishermen.

I just happen to think the Mainstream is the right place within the scheme of management to have catch-and-release. What's more, as fishing pressure builds in the next decade, it may prove the Mainstream's salvation.

I don't want to call anyone names or accuse them of being self-centered, let alone repugnant. I find Bob's opinion nothing other than wrong. What saddens me is to see the chairman — elect of the Michigan Council of Trout Unlimited use the same kind of elitist rhetoric against fellow fishermen that his organization has struggled for years to overcome. Fly fishermen who support catch-and-release aren't elitist. They just want the best fishing possible.

And it saddens me to see him say his own organization has been "embarrassed" by its support of catch-and-release experiments. No TU leader I know has expressed any embarrassment; none except Bob Andrus.

Incidentally, I didn't "announce" a petition drive, as Bob would have you believe. Several of us put together one petition form to be placed in one fishing shop over the opening weekend — just to find out if anyone agreed with us about catch-and-release. Hundreds did — nearly everyone who entered the shop. They represented not only Michigan, but the important tourist states of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, among others.

After all, the DNR says 72 percent of the Mainstream's fly fishermen already voluntarily release all the trout they catch.

So I am not alone in my beliefs, as Bob seems to imply. But use me for target practice, if you wish; I am probably as used to it as a human being can get.

The facts still won't change. The computer says catch-and-release rules will bring about the finest fishing the Mainstream can produce.

So, do we give up killing trout on 8.7 miles of the Mainstream to produce the best fishing possible, or don't we? The argument is just that simple.

Sincerely,
Tom Oppe

Chamber Chatter

By The Staff

The Chamber was glad to welcome a film crew from "Country Fishin'" of the Nashville Network on July 1st. They filmed country singing star Keith Stegall catching some nice trout between Jim's Canoe Livery at Wakeley Bridge and the White Pine Campground. The program will air in September to some 25 million viewers nationwide. Our special thanks to Jim's Canoe Livery and Skip's Sport Shop for making the day possible.

More thanks to the Grayling American Legion Post #106 for donating our new American Flag and to Spike's Keg O' Nails for donating coffee supplies for the 4th of July.

We have been busy this past week greeting a multitude of visitors to our offices, and answering inquiries on fishing, camping, canoeing, shopping, local attractions and lodging. If you have brochures that we could use to promote your businesses please send them to us. They will be appreciated.

The Grayling Boosters Club did a fine job on the 4th of July festivities this year. We hope you enjoyed them.

This week we welcome into membership Delights Chicken & Fish located on M-72 West and owned and operated by Doty Latuszek, June Savoie, Clarice Wester and Joanne Meldrum. Also, this week, we held a ribbon cutting for the Irishman's Shanty located on Michigan Avenue and owned by Rosemary Gallagher. On Friday, July 12th we'll be attending the Grand Opening of Jellystone Park Camp Resort with new owners Greg and Marlene Schoo. Everyone is welcome to come out and meet the new owners and see what the camp has to offer. We certainly welcome these new businesses and wish them well.

Until next week, drive carefully on our busy streets and don't forget to buckle your seat belts.

We'll Help. Will You?

Completely out-of-joint

Modern man is becoming increasingly lost. He does not understand who he is, why life is as it is, where he is going or what to do about air pollution, crab grass, noise, lawlessness and the fact he cannot sleep at night. He is constantly surrounded by machines, alluring ads, seductive movies and depressing headlines.

But the dilemma of man is that he cannot find himself. He must understand that the turmoil in the world and his personal problems are moral ones based on the truth that God exists and man has revolted against God.

Modern man will continue to be lost until he is clear that he is "out-of-joint" with his Creator and that there is only one way to restore the broken relationship. It is in Christ and His Church that man finds his way to God.

The Editor of
Crawford Co. Avalanche
Grayling, Mich 49738

Dear Editor,
We would like to comment on your article in your issue of June 27, 1985, page seven regarding The Long Term Care Unit Senior Prom.

Whoever wrote this missed
one of the main important reasons for the Senior Prom.

The Queen, Exilda Daoust was 100 years old and the King, John Dare was 103 and we feel that this deserved special mention and celebrate as much as The National Nursing Home
Week Program. Someone
goofed.

Ms. Green and all the wonderful volunteers did a magnificent job but the article was very disappointing and lacking one of the main reasons.

Relatives and Friends of Daoust and Dare

Editor's Note: It is against the policy of the Avalanche to print unsigned letters however, because of the interest we feel should be given this letter we are publishing it. We did not write the article mentioned, it was brought in and we do not know the author. For the life of us we can't understand why people take the time to write a letter to the editor and then not sign it. If the writer or writers of this letter had signed it we could contact them to explain the omission of the ages. The Avalanche is sorry this happened.

RIVER WEDDING — John Pinto and Veronica Abke, of St. Clair Shores, were married in the Manistee River Saturday during a steady rain. Pinto is the founder and first president of the Michigan Fly Fishing Club, and Abke said fishing is so significant in his life that she agreed to the river wedding site which combined the two loves of his life. The wedding ceremony took place in front of Elmer and Mary Stindt's house at a place in the river where Pinto said he's spent half his life fishing. Retired minister William Fraser united the pair in the 8:30 a.m. ceremony. The wedding party — all wearing waders — floated downriver in canoes for a half hour to reach the ceremony site. The newlyweds are going bone-fishing in the Bahamas for their honeymoon. (Jon Thompson Photo)

Annual Kids' Canoe Races Set for Day before Marathon

The Grayling Area Canoe Livery Association will again sponsor the Kids Canoe Race in 1985. This race gives area youngsters their chance to race in a shortened version of the famous AuSable Canoe Marathon. This year the race for the kids will be held on Friday, July 26th, the day before the Marathon.

All the Grayling Area Canoe Liveries have agreed again this year to allow participants to use rental canoes for practice runs at no charge, on weekdays only. The participants are responsible for their own pick-up of the canoes for practice runs. Canoe liveries will not make pick-ups without charge.

The race will start at the State Street Bridge in Grayling. Three age groups will be racing. The 15 to 17 year old group starts at 10:00 a.m. The 13 to 14 year olds will start at 10:10 a.m. and the 11 to 12 year old group will start at 10:20 a.m. Racers should try to be at the starting point, Carlisle Canoes, one half hour before the race begins. The 15 to 17 year olds will race to Stephens Bridge Landing, a 17-mile trip. The other age groups will race to Louie's Landing, a 10-mile run.

Canoes to be used are 17-foot aluminum and paddles are to be no more than 8 inches in width. The standard wooden paddle or the Carlisle paddle are the right sizes. Awards will be given in each age group for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places. Awards will be given out at Ray's Canoe Livery, at 8:00 p.m., the night of the marathon, July 27th.

Anyone who would like to join in the fun are encouraged to enter the race. Permission slips must be signed by parents or guardians to be in the race. Competitors can sign up by contacting Mike or Kathy Lovely at Carlisle Canoes, 110 State Street. An entrance fee of $1.00 per person will be charged. For more information, please call 348-2301.

Youth

Service Bureau

Last weeks recreation program was super fun. The following activities took place:

On Monday, Lori Scheer and her Rec. Assistants and summer recreation kids from Mio joined us for swimming at Pine Knoll. It was a beautiful day, a great day for tanning, I just hope no one got sunburned!

On Tuesday, Lori's summer Rec. assistants and summer Rec. kids came over and we played some indoor games and went to the City Park to have lunch. After all the rain came to a halt and the sun peaked out we went on to have a great time at Pine Knoll pool.

Wednesday, Lori's group and our group took a walk to our City Park for a picnic then we all went miniature golfing at Milltown Miniature Golf, we have some super golfers, quite a few of the kids won free games.

Thurs., July 4th there was no activity.

Next week the following will take place:

Monday Mio will be with us once again for miniature golf and we'll also be going to the fish hatchery.

Tuesdays group will be canoeing down the AuSable River. All youths will be wearing safety jackets, also there will be an experienced canoeist in every canoe.

Wednesday we will be swimming at Pine Knoll and Thursdays group will be Golfing at Milltown Miniature Golf.

Our staff would like to thank, once again Lary Gust of Pine Knoll, Missy Madsen of Milltown Miniature Golf.
